

Morelia

Morelia's main character trait can be best described by one word: curiosity. She loves learning new things. This has led to her picking up such diverse hobbies as learning to read braille, studying sign language, and practicing the violin.

Morelia has a teaching degree from San Carlos University in Guatemala and has worked as a primary school teacher. Always wanting to learn more, she is currently midway through another degree (a medical degree) to reach her next goal of becoming a physician and surgeon in the future.
